Gentlemen:

In confirmation of our telephone conversation of January 10, 1958, it is understood that the costs incurred for the repair of units returned to this company and for additional spare parts and tools for subject contract will be considered allowable costs under the contract at the time of redetermination. It is further understood that the contract ceiling will be adjusted if necessary to accommodate these costs.

We shall keep you advised periodically of our estimate of costs for the tasks to be performed under this portion of the contract.

Very truly yours,

Discussed with 3 Jan 58 He was advised that we desired to close out contracts as soon as possible without further amendments. We will check ceiling and costs incurred to date. He was also sympathetic with our interest in transferring equipment except on new Report items to FOG.
